Staff members Rachel Dewey and Stephen Geis gave an overview of the 2022 Data Snapshot which is now available on the SRPC website and will be published annually. The Regional Data Snapshot contains a region-wide analysis of data in the categories of demographics, economic vitality, livability and quality of life, mobility and accessibility, and resiliency. It is meant to be referenced as a stand-alone document, or in conjunction with SRPC's core plans, the Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (CEDS), the Metropolitan Transportation Plan (MTP), and the regional master plan.

S. Geis summarized the Regional Data Snapshot Map Viewer which has also been published on the SRPC website. He explained that the map viewer is an online, interactive version of the maps and data presented in SRPC's Regional Data Snapshot,

The map viewer should be used in tandem with the existing Regional Data Snapshot as the snapshot document contains more information on how to read the individual maps and about the sources of the data being presented. This map viewer is an additional tool that can provide more clarity and an interactive format of the maps that are being presented in the snapshot document.
